

APEUni Write Essay Template

Nowadays, whether ... (topic) has attracted numerous controversies and drawn the public's attention. Some people believe that ... (one point of view), while others hold the view that ... (another point of view). In my opinion, ... (your point of view) for ... (A) and ... (B) reasons.

Firstly, the ... (A) reason is why I think ... (paraphrase your point of view). Although potentially positive/negative impacts of ... (the subject in the topic) must be taken into account, I still reckon that ... (the subject in the topic) has in many ways enormously harmed/enriched people's lives. For example, a well-known American scientist Einstein once said that ... (make up a sentence that is related to the topic). It is thus clearly shown that ... (your point of view).

Moreover, another factor that should be considered is the ... (B) reason. As far as society is concerned, the ultimate aim of ... (the topic) is to ... (anything related to the topic). For instance, a recent article published on Scientist American/The Economist revealed that ... (make up a sentence that is related to the topic). Undoubtedly, this is a clear indication that ... (your point of view).

To sum up/In conclusion, I hold the view that ... (your point of view). To address this issue, the government and society should make a concerted effort to find solutions.

Words you may choose for A / B

- Technological
- Environmental
- Financial
- Educational
- Social
- Cultural

You may use the following words if the topic is related to human:

- Physical
- Psychological

Essay Type: Agree / Disagree (Y/N)

Essay Question:

Some people believe law changes human behaviour. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Sample Answer:

Nowadays, whether the law changes human behaviour has attracted numerous controversies and drawn the public's attention. Some people believe that the law can change human behaviour, while others hold the view that there is no relationship between law and human behaviour. In my opinion, the law does have an influence on human behaviour for social and psychological reasons.

First and foremost, the social reason is why I think the law has an influence on human behaviour. Although potentially negative impacts of the law must be taken into account, I still reckon that the existence of law has in many ways enormously enriched people's lives. For example, a well-known American scientist Einstein once said that people are generally afraid of receiving any form of legal punishment. It is thus clearly shown that human behaviour is changed by the law.

Moreover, another factor that should be considered is the psychological reason. As far as society is concerned, the ultimate aim of the law is to protect people. For instance, a recent article published by The Economist reveals that 80% of people fasten their seat belts in cars after a traffic law has been published. Undoubtedly, this is a clear indication that the law has a positive impact on individuals' behaviour.

In conclusion, I hold the view that the law changes human behaviour. To address this issue, the government and society should make a concerted effort to find solutions. (words: 241)